LONDON, Ky. — Bobby Mosley, 30, of Burnside, Ky., pleaded guilty to receiving and distributing child pornography before United States District Court Judge Danny C. Reeves, announced U.S. Attorney Amul R. Thapar. Mosley was indicted in November of last year.

In the course of his guilty plea, Mosley admitted from about March through October of 2006, in Pulaski County, he knowingly received and distributed multiple images of minors engaged in various forms of sexually explicit conduct. Mosley received and distributed the images via computer and admitted that he was aware the images portrayed minors engaged in sexually explicit conduct.

Mosley faces a minimum of five years and up to 20 years in prison, a maximum fine of $250,000 and supervised release for up to life. Mosley's sentencing is currently scheduled for May 21, 2007 at 11:00 a.m. in United States District Court in London, Ky.

The investigation was conducted by the Kentucky State Police, Electronic Crime Section. Assistant United States Attorney Erin J. May represented the United States in the case.

This case was brought as part of Project Safe Childhood. In February 2006, Attorney General Alberto R. Gonzales created Project Safe Childhood, a nationwide initiative designed to protect children from online exploitation and abuse. Led by the U.S. Attorneys Offices, Project Safe Childhood marshals federal, state and local resources to better locate, apprehend and prosecute individuals who exploit children via the Internet, as well as identify and rescue victims.
